

Financial Breakdown

BEING A MEMBER OF A SORORITY OR FRATERNITY COMES WITH A FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY.

WHAT DO MEMBERSHIP DUES COVER?

Paying dues to a chapter can cover a number of items. One important thing that you need to know is that each chapter handles their own finances, so it is important to ask what is included in membership dues. Some chapters will have all-inclusive dues, while others will have minimum dues where members will pay out of pocket for extra items. New member and membership dues can include operating costs, chapter insurance, inter/national dues, meal plans, rent, membership badge, new member manuals, apparel, social events, philanthropic donations, and parlor fees to name a few examples.

TYPES OF PAYMENTS

Different chapters will have different methods of payments. Some chapters will collect a lump sum one-time payment at the beginning of membership, others will collect semesterly payments, and some will collect monthly payments. Many chapters also work with members on payment plans! Additionally, chapters may have members create an account through an online system to pay dues (e.g. Billhighway, OmegaFi, LegFi). This has become standard practice for many chapters, but many organizations still accept various forms of payment.

KEEP IN MIND

- This document is a collection of estimates, but chapters have the ability to change dues each semester.
- Chapters may offer discounts and incentives based on academics, if a member is living in the house, or seniority.
- Some organizations have alumni dues after graduation.
- Ask questions! This document outlines information and good questions to ask.

QUESTIONS TO ASK DURING RECRUITMENT

- What is included in new member and members' dues?
- What out-of-pocket expenses could be expected?
- Does the chapter offer payment plans?
- What kind of scholarships are available?
- Is there a live-in or meal plan requirement?
- What costs are associated with living in the house?
- What method of payments are accepted?

AVERAGE FIRST SEMESTER COST:
$1,135.00

*Chapters may offer payment plans to pay dues and new member fees. Some dues will be all-inclusive where other chapters may expect members to pay out of pocket for certain events. Chapters may have discounted dues for members living in a facility or members who are second, third, or fourth-year members. These amounts are self-reported by chapters. Financial information was updated Summer 2024.
